The NRC defines many categories (e.g., faculty, completion rates) differently from Stanford’s standard internal definitions.

Faculty

Includes students with full-time or part-time admission to candidacy or not and actively enrolled in the PhD program as of October 24, 2005. Students on leave of absence are not included. Minority percentage uses the same definition as in the Faculty section. – Data: PeopleSoft Student

PhD Students

</table>

Includes all students (full-time or part-time, admitted to candidacy or not) actively enrolled in the PhD program as of October 24, 2005. Students on leave of absence are not included. Minority percentage uses the same definition as in the Faculty section. – Data: PeopleSoft Student

Annual Graduates

Completions as of Fall 2006

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Of Students Starting 1996-97 through 2000-01, % Candidates Completing PhD Within 6 Years</th>
<th>Of Students Starting 1996-97 through 1998-99, % Candidates Completing PhD Within 8 Years</th>
<th>Total PhDs Granted 2003-04 through 2005-06</th>
<th>Median Time to Degree (FT&amp;PT)</th>
<th>Median Time to Degree (FT only)</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>XX%</td>
<td>Not calculated for non-humanities</td>
<td>XX</td>
<td>X.X years</td>
<td>X.X years</td>
</tr>
</tbody>

Includes only students who were admitted to candidacy and who never took a leave of absence or enrolled part-time. Percentages include all students awarded a PhD within either 6 or 8 years of enrollment. 6-year rates (used to rank non-humanities departments) consider students entering 1996-97 to 2000-01; 8-year rates (used to rank humanities departments) consider students entering 1996-97 to 1998-99. – Data: PeopleSoft Student

Calculations based on all students receiving PhDs in the 3 academic years indicated. ‘Time to Degree’ doesn’t include time enrolled before the PhD program began. ‘FT only’ students did not take a leave of absence or enroll part-time (<8 units) while in the PhD program. – Data: PeopleSoft Student

Other Resources

Stanford provides health insurance to all graduate students. Programs receive up to 18 points for 'Student Activities' provided by the program or institution. Programs reported estimates of individual workspace. – Data: Program questionnaire self-reports

<table>
