UNDERGRADUATE PROGRAMS IN COMPARATIVE STUDIES IN RACE AND ETHNICITY

MAJORS

CORE CURRICULUM

The Interdisciplinary Program in Comparative Studies in Race and Ethnicity (CSRE) provides students the opportunity to structure a major or minor in comparative ethnic studies or to focus their course work in a single ethnic studies area. Four majors and minors (Asian American Studies, Comparative Studies, Chicana/o Studies, and Native American Studies) are offered as part of CSRE. All courses taken for the major must be taken for a letter grade. In addition, majors in the Program in African and African American Studies enroll in the core curriculum offered by CSRE. The directors of the programs and of each major constitute the CSRE curriculum committee, the policy making body for the interdisciplinary program.

Students who declare any of the five majors participate in a common curriculum of the CSRE consisting of at least two introductory core courses and a senior seminar. Individually designed majors in Jewish Studies may also enroll in the CSRE core curriculum.

There are two types of introductory, interdisciplinary core courses taught by senior CSRE-affiliated faculty: regular core courses that compare across racial and ethnic groups; and single-group core courses that focus on a specific racial or ethnic group.

MINORS

Students who wish to minor in the study areas must complete six courses (a minimum of 30 units) from the approved CSRE course list, two of which must be introductory core courses. Proposals for the minor must be approved by the director of each study area.

DIRECTED READING AND RESEARCH

Directed reading and research allows students to focus on a special topic of interest. In organizing a reading research plan, the student consults with the director of the major and one or more faculty members specializing in the area or discipline.

Courses that fulfill directed reading and research requirements.

ASNAMST 200R. Directed Research (1-5 units)
ASNAMST 200W. Directed Reading (1-5 units)
CHICANST 200R. Directed Research (1-5 units)
CHICANST 200W. Directed Reading (1-5 units)
CSRE 200R. Directed Research (1-5 units)
CSRE 200W. Directed Reading (1-5 units)
NATIVEAM 200R. Directed Research (1-5 units)
NATIVEAM 200W. Directed Reading

SENIOR SEMINAR

Research and the writing of the senior honors thesis or senior paper is under the supervision of a faculty project adviser. All CSRE-related students, even those who opt to write honors theses in other departments and programs, must enroll in CSRE 200X, Senior Seminar, offered in Autumn Quarter. The course takes students through the process of research including conceptualization, development of prospectus, development of theses, research, analysis, and writing. This course meets the Writing in the Major requirement (WIM). Those who opt to write senior papers are organized into tutorial groups in Autumn Quarter.

RELATED PROGRAMS

CSRE-related majors have several unique opportunities available to them. The program supports full-time paid summer internships for those who apply to work in a non-profit or government agency in a public policy-related area. The CSRE Public Policy/Leadership Institute is a two week, pre-Autumn Quarter... seminar that provides exposure to critical public policy issues and is taught by a leading faculty member. The residence-based institute provides room and board and all seminar materials for participants, including a visit to Sacramento to meet with policy makers. The CSRE program also sponsors quarterly career workshops and informal luncheons for allmajors and minors.

HONORS

Majors in each of the study areas who meet academic qualifications (at least a grade point average of 3.5 in CSRE-related courses) may apply for honors. Majors are expected to participate in a Winter Quarter junior workshop in preparation for honors thesis research. Prizes for best undergraduate honors theses are awarded annually by the CSRE curriculum committee. Courses that fulfill honors requirements.

CSRE 199. Pre-Honors Seminar (1 unit)
CSRE 200X. CSRE Senior Seminar (WIM; 5 units)
CSRE 200Y. CSRE Senior Honors Research (1-10 units)
CSRE 200Z. CSRE Senior Honors Research (1-10 units)

AFRICAN AND AFRICAN AMERICAN STUDIES (AAAS)

Director: Michele Elam

Since 1997-98, AAAS has been a CSRE-related major. For major and minor descriptions and requirements, see the “African and African American Studies” section of this bulletin.

ASIAN AMERICAN STUDIES

Director: Gordon Chang

Asian American Studies (AAS) provides an interdisciplinary approach to understanding the historical and current experiences of persons of Asian ancestry in the United States. In using the term “Asian American,” the AAS faculty recognize that the term seeks to name a rapidly developing, complex, and heterogeneous population and that there is neither a single Asian American identity nor one community that comprises all Asian Americans. Asian Americans include those with ancestral ties to countries or regions in East Asia, South Asia, Southeast Asia, or the Philippines, among others.

AAS brings together courses that address the artistic, historical, humanistic, political, and social dimensions of Asian Americans and is an appropriate course of study for students interested in a variety of concerns related to Asian Americans, including: artistic and cultural contributions; current social significance; historical experiences; immigration, intellectual, and policy issues; relationships with other social groups; and the construction of the notion of Asian American as it addresses important theoretical and practical issues.

REQUIREMENTS

Asian American majors must take the 15-unit CSRE core curriculum including two introductory core courses and a senior seminar taken in Autumn Quarter of the senior year. Each single-group, core course that focuses on a non-Asian ethnic group may be counted toward the 15-unit core requirement.

Majors are required to take one foundational thematic course in Asian American Studies. This may be either HISTORY 59, Introduction to Asian American History, or COMPLIT 148, Introduction to Asian American Cultures. Majors must complete an additional 40 units of course work from an approved list. One course must have an international dimension, preferably a focus on Asia. Five other courses must have an Asian American focus and must be selected from social science and humanities departments. Majors must take two courses offering a comparative perspective on race and ethnicity. Students may obtain credit for their study of a related Asian language towards their degree. A total of 60 units of course work is required for the major.

If students take 15 or more units of an Asian language relevant to Asian American Studies, they may apply 5 of those units toward their Asian American Studies degree. A total of 30 units of approved course work is required for the minor.

Students in Asian American Studies may find the following courses useful in fulfilling course requirements in the major or minor.

Core Courses—

ANTHRO 88. Theories of Race and Ethnicity (5 units)
COMPLIT 142/ENGLISH 172E. Literature of the Americas (5 units)
COMPLIT 148. Introduction to Asian American Cultures (5 units)
CSRE 179G/DRAMA 179G. Indigenous Identity in Diaspora: People of Color Art Practice in North America (5 units)

TAUBE CENTER FOR JEWISH STUDIES

Directors: Charlotte Fonrobert, Vered Shemtov

Jewish Studies is an affiliated program of CSRE. For program and course descriptions, see the “Jewish Studies” section of this bulletin.

NATIVE AMERICAN STUDIES

Director: Teresa LaFromboise

Native American Studies provides an intensive approach to understanding the historical and contemporary experiences of Native American people. Attention is paid not only to the special relationship between tribes and the federal government, but to issues across national boundaries, including tribal nations within Canada, and North, Central, and South America. In using the term “Native American,” the NAS faculty recognize the heterogeneous nature of this population. Native Americans include the Alaska Native population, which comprises Aleuts, Eskimo, and other Native American people residing in Alaska.

The purpose of the Native American Studies major and minor is to introduce students to approaches in the academic study of Native American people, history, and culture. Students who major in Native American Studies have the opportunity of doing advanced work in related fields, including literature, sociology, education, and law. In addition to specialized course work on Native American issues, students also are expected to concentrate in a traditional discipline such as anthropology, history, or psychology to ensure a well rounded educational experience. The area of concentration and related course work should be selected in consultation with a faculty adviser in Native American Studies. All courses in the program promote the discussion of how academic knowledge about Native Americans relates to the historical and contemporary experiences of Native American people and communities.

REQUIREMENTS

Native American Studies majors must take the 15-unit CSRE core curriculum, including two introductory core courses and a senior seminar taken in Autumn Quarter of the senior year. One single-group, core course that focuses on a non-Native American group may be counted toward the 15-unit core requirement.

Majors complete an additional 45 units of course work that satisfy three categories of their thematic concentration: Native American focus, comparative focus, and a methodology/research course. A total of 60 units of coursework are required for the major. Students who wish to minor in Native American Studies must complete two core introductory courses and four additional courses related to the thematic concentration. A total of 30 units of approved course work is required for the minor.

Students in Native American Studies may find the following courses useful in fulfilling requirements in the major or minor.

Core Courses—
ANTHRO 88: Theories of Race and Ethnicity (5 units)
COMPLIT 142/ENGLISH 172E: Literature of the Americas (5 units)
CSRE 179G/DRAMA 179G: Indigenous Identity in Diaspora: People of Color Art Practice in North America (5 units)

SOC 45Q: Understanding Race and Ethnicity in American Society (5 units)
SOC 138: American Indians in Comparative Historical Perspective (5 units)
SOC 139: American Indians in Contemporary Society (5 units)

THEMATIC CONCENTRATION IN THE INSTITUTE FOR DIVERSITY IN THE ARTS (IDA)

Students in any major in the Comparative Studies in Race and Ethnicity undergraduate program can choose a concentration in the Institute for Diversity in the Arts. The concentration is not declared on Axess; it does not appear on the transcript or diploma. Students interested in IDA should contact the CSRE undergraduate program office.

A minimum of 60 units is required for the thematic concentration in IDA. Students take two of the CSRE core courses (10 units), one of which must focus on the arts; in addition, CSRE 200X is required of students in the IDA concentration and is taken in Autumn Quarter of the senior year (5 units, WIM). As a capstone experience, majors must write an honors thesis or senior paper.

IDA concentration students must also complete a senior project. Possible senior projects include a stage production, CD, or arts workshop curriculum in a community setting. Students who elect to write an honors thesis may incorporate their project as the basis for their thesis.

In addition to the core curriculum, students complete 45 units drawing from new and existing courses in departments and programs such as Art and Art History, Music, Drama, and Comparative Literature, as well as the five CSRE major areas of study: African and African American Studies; Asian American Studies; Chicana/o Studies; Comparative Studies; and Native American Studies. Thematic courses may focus on performance, visual aesthetics, writing for performance, critical studies in art and performance, and critical arts theory.

Students may find the following courses useful in fulfilling requirements in the Institute for Diversity in the Arts (IDA) thematic concentration.
ARTHIST 160A: Twentieth Century African American Art (4 units)
ARTHIST 256A: Critical Race Art History (5 units)
DRAMA 17N: Salt of the Earth: The Docudrama in América (3 units)

CSRE 201B/CHICANST 201B: From Racial Justice to Multiculturalism: Movement-based Arts Organizing in the Post Civil Rights Era (5 units)

THEMATIC CONCENTRATION IN PUBLIC SERVICE

The Public Service thematic concentration is designed to ensure that CSRE students interested in public service have access to a structured curriculum providing a solid grounding in the theory and practice of public service that enables them to become future leaders in the sphere of public life. This concentration is not declared on Axess; it does not appear on the transcript or diploma. This thematic concentration can be completed within any of the majors within CSRE. Students should consult with the CSRE undergraduate program director and the chair of African and African American Studies, Asian American Studies, Chicana/o Studies, or Native American Studies to ensure that the courses chosen for the Public Service thematic concentration also fulfill the requirements of the respective majors. Students who wish to pursue a thematic concentration in public service must organize their studies to include 15 credits of approved CSRE core courses, including CSRE 200X, CSRE Senior Seminar, in which students with a thematic concentration in public service may select a topic for their senior paper or honors thesis that reflects their interest in public or experience with a past internship.

In addition to the usual core requirements expected of all CSRE majors, students who wish to pursue a thematic concentration in Public Service must take an additional 40 units organized around four subject matter areas: organization and leadership; inquiry and assessment; serving diverse communities; and service learning. They also must complete 5 units in a public service internship. Students interested in the Public Service thematic concentration should contact the CSRE Undergraduate Program Office for details about its requirements.

THEMATIC CONCENTRATION IN AMERICAN DIVERSITY

The American diversity concentration is designed for students who wish to explore how the United States was and is constituted with relation to issues of race and ethnicity. The concentration investigates how American domestic and foreign policy, law, history, culture, and society are formed within conversations, debates, policies and studies regarding race and ethnicity. Issues of immigration, citizenship, empire and expansion, defense, diplomacy, human rights, public welfare, social justice and law, educational rights and other topics are explored from the angle of how racial and ethnic difference impacts debate and policy.

The concentration is not declared on Axess; it does not appear on the transcript or diploma. Students interested in the American diversity thematic concentration should contact the CSRE undergraduate program office.

The American diversity concentration requires 15 units including two approved CSRE core courses and CSRE 200X, Senior Seminar (WIM) taken Autumn Quarter of the senior year. One single-group core course may be counted toward the 15 unit core requirement.

Students may find the following courses useful in fulfilling requirements in the American Diversity thematic concentration.

CSRE 201B/CHICANST 201B. From Racial Justice to Multiculturalism: Movement-based Arts Organizing in the Post Civil Rights Era (5 units)

THEMATIC CONCENTRATION IN RACE AND THE AMERICAN CITY

The race and the American city concentration is designed for students who wish to develop methodologies, data, and theoretical and conceptual materials concerning how urban life, infrastructure, and policies are influenced by race and ethnicity. As virtual laboratories of social interaction, cities embody negotiations around resources, residences, financial districting, economic flow, health and educational resources, environmental policies, and city planning. A primary goal is for students to learn how they might contribute to the social and political discourse on race and ethnicity in the U.S. Participation in a public service internship and/or Stanford in Washington is encouraged.

The concentration is not declared on Axess; it does not appear on the transcript or diploma. Students interested in the race and the American city concentration should contact the CSRE undergraduate program office.

The race and the American city concentration requires 15 units including two approved CSRE core courses and CSRE 200X, Senior Seminar (WIM) taken Autumn Quarter of the senior year. One single-group core course may be counted toward the 15 unit core requirement. In addition to the core requirements, students must take an additional 45 units of course work relevant to the thematic concentration which may include courses such as:
