

Sun PASIG Research Data Curation Working Group Meeting

May 28-29, 2008

General charge for the working groups....

“Sharing open computing solutions and best practices, practical experiences (successes and otherwise), and identify potential topics for more collaboration...”

Sun PASIG Research Data Curation Working Group Meeting

Suggested charge for our working group (from the program)...

“Addressing archival and data curation issues is a both a growing academic and government concern. We will look at how we make existing research materials more available and pertinent across disciplines and how we establish up-front archival plans for new materials. This group will also address the organizational pressures on the library and the top technology factors that must be addressed for successful large-scale, multi-disciplinary research data curation. The goal of this group is to document the state-of-the art projects and practices in this arena.”

The bottom line

This working group can be whatever we want it to be and whatever we make it.
