ATTENTION WORLDWIDE PARTNERS!

2006 is the 11th year in which these 2 beds were irrigated with the same drip lines. Bucket Kits can be delivered to most countries for $8.00-$10.00 each in container lots. If they are only used for 5 years this bring the cost to about $2.00 PER YEAR. Last year one Bucket Kit produced nearly 700 lbs of tomatoes in Little Africa!

IS THERE ANY ORGANIZATION WHICH CAN DELIVER HUNDREDS OF POUNDS OF VEGETABLES TO THE OTHER SIDE OF THE WORLD FOR ONLY $2.00?

* Little Africa is a plastic covered area which receives no rainfall. Each bed is supplied by a 5 gallon bucket which is filled twice daily.

CHAPIN WATERMATICS GETS NEW OWNER
(Headline appearing in the Watertown Daily times—May 3, 2006)

“Jain Irrigation Systems of India announced Tuesday that it had purchased Chapin Watermatics. — President William A Chapin said none of the company’s 60 employees would be affected by Jain’s purchase.—It will be the same name, same company, same employees, just new owners.”

The new owners plan to supply all Chapin Living Waters needs whether it is a single Bucket Kit or container Loads of Drip Irrigation Kits for shipment around the world.

Chapin Watermatics is a manufacturing company, founded by Dick Chapin in 1960. During his 46 year career with Chapin Watermatics, Dick invented the first drip irrigation hose, and later developed Bucket Kits for use in dry, third world regions where running water was not readily available.

“Chapin Living Waters — can I help you?”
This is the cheerful voice of Gloria Vallieres, our secretary, as you phone us.

These are just a few of her duties:

- Answering Calls, Email and Faxes
- Preparing and mailing newsletters
- Sending out receipts to donors
- Quoting costs for larger shipments
- Paying the bills
- Filing requests for information and sample Bucket Kits

Gloria is a valuable member of the team at Chapin Living Waters. Dick Chapin, Executive Director, states, “There is no way I could run the office without Gloria’s wonderful help.”
