• It didn't really feel like the course corresponded to the description. I was expecting more and broader discussions of AI in business and questions of ethical uses/development of AI and how we might assess the fairness of AI tools/algorithms etc. The course felt more focused on optimization tools.

• Great course but, focus should shift more to the "responsible" bit. We spent a majority of the sessions on implementing optimisation problems, which was very interesting, but overemphasised.

11 - D - What are the professor's main teaching strengths (Dan IANCU)? -

Response Rate	5/32 (15.62%)
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • He was motivated and interested in teaching us. He has a lot of knowledge and experience on the subject taught. • Structured, great pedagogical material • Professor Iancu was one of the best professors I had at INSEAD. He is very open, smart and knowledgeable. His in-class projects were very engaging and had high level of relevancy to managerial practice. • His expertise and passion for the subject • Professor Dan was one of my best professors in INSEAD. The format of the class enabled us to have the theory and practice doing the exercises and professor Dan was always available to help us with questions.
