Mehran Sahami CS 106A Handout #43A November 29, 2017

Solution to Section #8

Parts of this handout by Brandon Burr and Patrick Young

```
/*
 * FlightPlanner.java
* _____
 * Reads in a file of cities and their corresponding flights,
 * and allows the user to plan a flight route.
 */
import acm.program.*;
import acm.util.*;
import java.io.*;
import java.util.*;
public class FlightPlanner extends ConsoleProgram { public void run() {
     println("Welcome to Flight Planner!");
     readFlightData("flights.txt");
     println("Here's a list of all the cities in our database:");
     printCityList(cities);
     println("Let's plan a round-trip route!");
     String startCity = readLine("Enter the starting city: ");
     ArrayList<String> route = new ArrayList<String>();
     route.add(startCity);
     String currentCity = startCity;
     while (true) {
        String nextCity = getNextCity(currentCity);
        route.add(nextCity);
         if (nextCity.equals(startCity)) break;
         currentCity = nextCity;
      }
     printRoute(route);
  }
  / Ask user for the name of the next city in the route */
  private String getNextCity(String city) { ArrayList<String> destinations = getDestinations(city); String nextCity = null;
     while (true) {
        println("From " + city + " you can fly directly to:");
        printCityList(destinations);
        String prompt = "Where do you want to go from " + city + "? ";
        nextCity = readLine(prompt);
         if (destinations.contains(nextCity)) break;
        println("You can't get to that city by a direct flight.");
      }
     return nextCity;
   }
```

```
/
 * Given a starting city, looks up the destinations from that * city in the HashMap of flights, and return an array list of * the destinations that are available.
 */
private ArrayList<String> getDestinations(String fromCity) { return flights.get(fromCity);
}
/
 * Prints a list of cities from the array list. Each city name is
 * indented by a space.
 */
private void printCityList(ArrayList<String> cityList) { for(int i = 0; i < cityList.size(); i++) {</pre> String city = cityList.get(i);
      println(" " + city);
   }
}
/
 * Given a list of city names, prints out the flight
 * route, with a " -> " between each pair of cities
 */
private void printRoute(ArrayList<String> route) { println("The route you've chosen is: ");
   for (int i = 0; i < route.size(); i++) {
      if (i > 0) print(" -> ");
      print(route.get(i));
   3
   println();
}
/
 * Reads in the city information from the given file storing the * information in both the ArrayList of cities and the HashMap of
 * flights.
 */
private void readFlightData(String filename) {
   flights = new HashMap<String, ArrayList<String>>(); cities = new ArrayList<String>();
   try { BufferedReader rd =
                  new BufferedReader(new FileReader(filename));
      while (true) {
         String line = rd.readLine();
         if (line == null) break;
         if (line.length() != 0) {
            readFlightEntry(line);
         }
      }
      rd.close();
   } catch (IOException ex) {
      throw new ErrorException(ex);
   }
}
```

```
/
 * Reads a single flight entry from the line passed as an argument,
 * which should be in the form
 * fromCity -> toCity
 * Each new city is added to the ArrayList cities, and each new * flight is recorded by adding a new destination city to the * ArrayList stored in the HashMap flights under the key for the
 * starting city.
 */
private void readFlightEntry(String line) {
   int arrow = line.indexOf("->");
   if (arrow == -1) {
      throw new ErrorException("Illegal flight entry " + line);
   }
   // Note: trim() removes leading/ending spaces from a string String fromCity = line.substring(0, arrow).trim();
   String toCity = line.substring(arrow + 2).trim();
   defineCity(fromCity);
   defineCity(toCity);
   getDestinations(fromCity).add(toCity);
}
/
 * Defines a city if it has not already been defined. Defining
 * a city consists of entering it in the cities array and
 * entering an empty ArrayList in the flights table to show * that it has no destinations yet.
 */
private void defineCity(String cityName) {
   if (!cities.contains(cityName)) {
      cities.add(cityName);
      flights.put(cityName, new ArrayList<String>());
   }
}
/* Private instance variables */
private Map<String, ArrayList<String>> flights; private ArrayList<String> cities;
```

}