

The CS+Social Good Summer Fellowship Program is back!
This annual program supports Stanford undergraduate students pursue 9-week projects at the intersection of technology and social impact.

In partnership with the Haas Center, we provide stipends to cover students' living and travel expenses with additional funds available to students who qualify.

Apply to match with one of our partner organizations or design your own CS+Social Good fellowship! We're partnering with organizations that work on issues ranging from police accountability to housing justice. For potential organizations for self-designed internships, check out our Hot Leads List!
