CS224N: Website Image and Paragraph Instructions

Last updated on March 13, 2021

Each team submits one image and paragraph to summarize their final project. These will be posted on the CS224N website with links to your final report. We require that all teams submit this assignment, even if you have requested we do not post your report online.

1 Image and paragraph

The goal of the summary image and paragraph is to produce an easy to digest elevator pitch. It is also good practice to think about how to present your work both verbally and visually. Check out `https://ai.stanford.edu/blog/` for ideas on how to promote your research to a broad AI audience.

Image. The summary image should visually describe the core idea of your project. This could be a figure from your report, a simple model architecture diagram, or a custom graphic. Note that the image should be readable when sized to a 2-inch width for display on the website. The image must be in JPEG or PNG format and at most 10MB.

Paragraph (less than 300 words) The summary paragraph should concisely describe your final project in terms of its goals and main findings. While it is acceptable to submit your abstract for this part, you may also choose to write more informally (i.e., blog-like) than your abstract.

2 Grading

Your image and paragraph will be graded for both quality and completion. For quality, we will be looking for a visually attractive image and a concise, well-written paragraph.

3 Submission instructions

Each team should make one submission to the Google Forms link shared on Ed. While you can update the submission, please do not make multiple submissions per team.[1] To make sure all team members get credit, make sure to include Stanford emails for all team members in your submission.

The due date for all teams is 4:30 PM on Friday March 19. Late days will not be accepted for this assignment.

4 Posting reports online

All final reports will be posted on the CS224N website. If you do not want your report to be published online, please let us know in a private Ed post, and we won't upload it.

[1] An exception is if you need to update your image, Google Forms requires you to submit a new response.
