

Redesigning Degree Progress

Brad Reyes and Mark Schramm

The current state of Axxess degree progress

Only shows GER's, writing requirements, and language

Generally clunky and not information dense at all

Bad visualization

General Education Requirements

General Education Requirements

General Education Requirements ▾

Satisfied: General Education Requirements for Undergraduates

Thinking Matters

Thinking Matters

Satisfied: Thinking Matters

Thinking Matters

Thinking Matters

Thinking Matters ▾

Satisfied: Thinking Matters

The following courses were used to satisfy this requirement:

The following courses were used to satisfy this requirement:

Row	Course	Description	Units	When	Grade	Status
1	THINK 29	NETWORKS	4.00	2012-2013 Spring	😊	✓

View All First ◀ 1 of 1 ▶ Last

Tabular information seems straightforward but there are a lot of redundancies

Thinking Matters

YO DAWG

I HEARD YOU LIKE THINKING MATTERS SO I PUT
SOME THINKING MATTERS IN YOUR THINKING
MATTERS

Prior work

- Curriculum visualization - Gestwicki
 - Uses graph to represent relationships between courses
- “How to Visualize Progress” - Michael Harand
 - Cumulative progress
 - Pace
 - Good/Bad

Classes Taken for Major

CS106B: Programming	5
CS107: Systems	5
CS110: Systems 2	4
CS140: Easy Class	4
Writing in the Major	3-4
Senior Project	3
CS142, CS148, or Econ 1	3-5
CS448b or CS229	3
Any class for d.school list	3-5

Unit Progression and Goal

Classes Taken for Major

CS106B: Programming	5
CS107: Systems	5
CS110: Systems 2	4
CS140: Easy Class	4
Writing in the Major	3-4
Senior Project	3
CS142, CS148, or Econ 1	3-5
CS448b or CS229	3
Any class for d.school list	3-5

Unit Progression and Goal

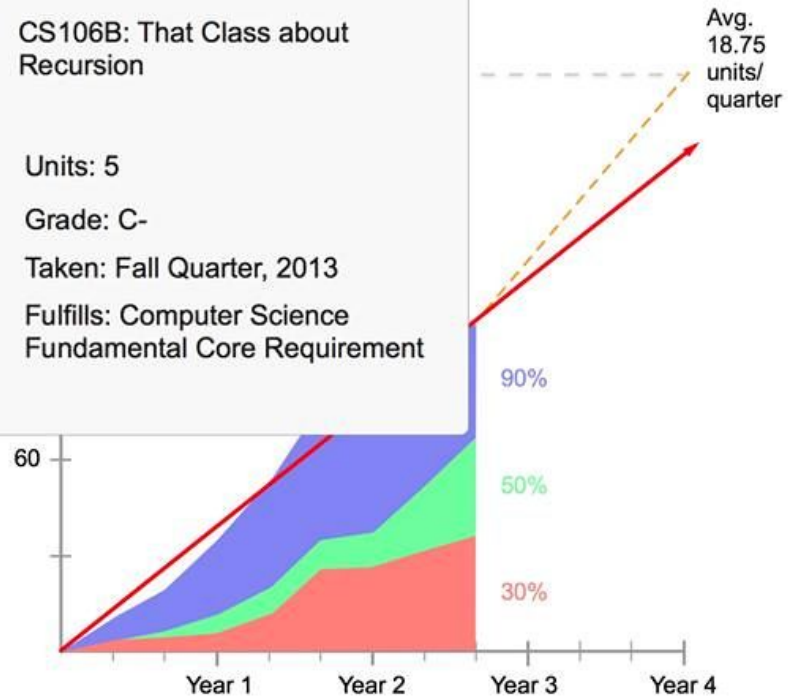

CS106B: That Class about Recursion

Units: 5

Grade: C-

Taken: Fall Quarter, 2013

Fulfills: Computer Science
Fundamental Core Requirement

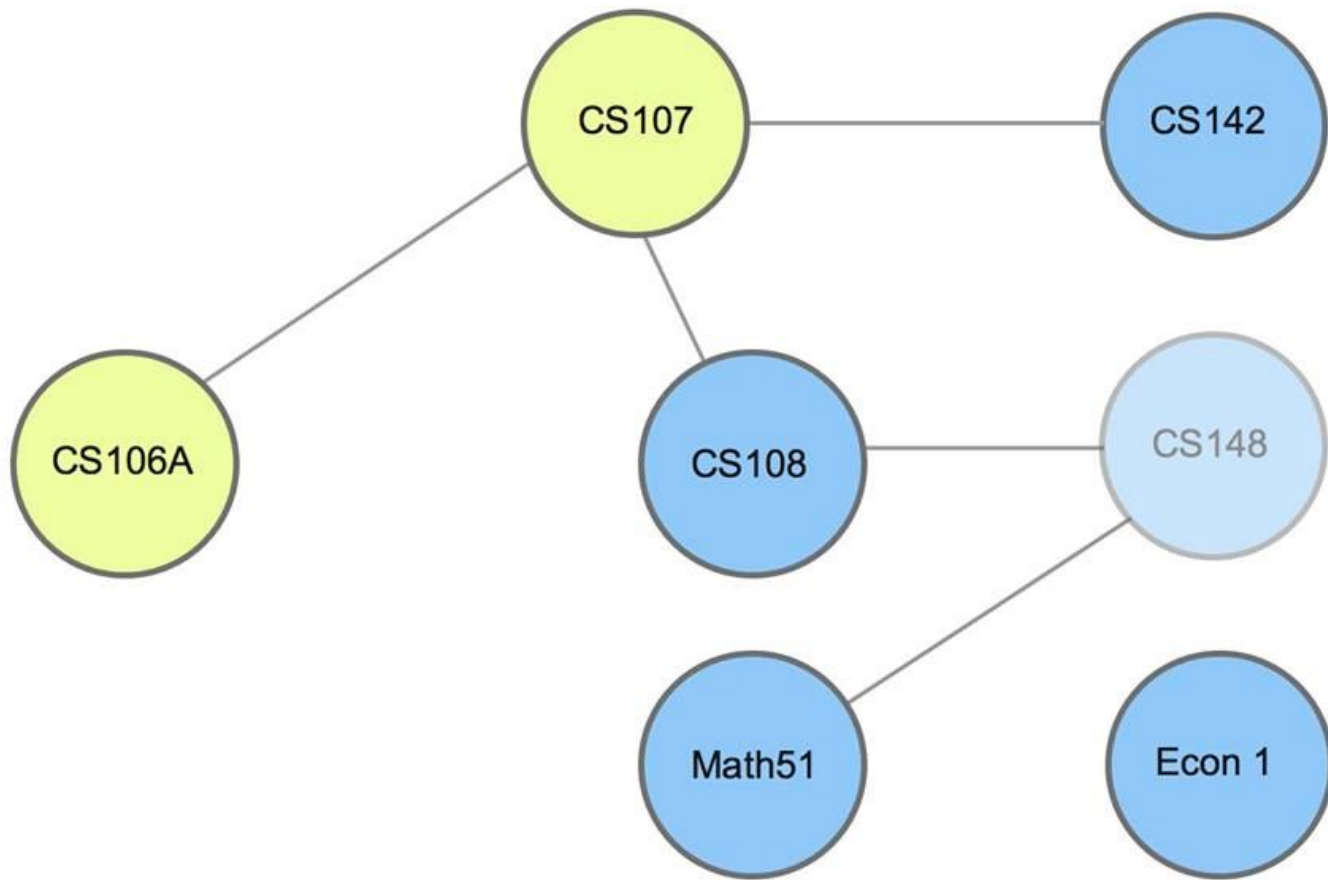

CR/NC Units

8 Max Activity Units

36 Max Units

Questions for Feedback

- What's most valuable to you for viewing your degree progress?
- Have you seen any other apps or sites that do something that we're doing?
- General suggestions/critiques