

[drop hydroflask loudly on the floor]

Oh no!

You got your dream job offer, your girlfriend broke up with you, and your hydroflask just fell before your pitch. You have so much to say and you're looking for music to show the world how you feel.

Where do you turn?

Record is a music-centric journaling app that shows you trends in your emotions over time. Record lets you associate your emotional states with songs, then generates insights for you based on those associations.

Record – Analyze your emotions musically.
