C-phycocyanin forms the primary antenna rods in phycobilisomes. 7+ distinct photophysical states of the 3-chromophore C-PC monomer are resolved in the ABEL trap in multiple variables. The observed states support a FRET-based model of energy transfer, with reversible transitions among neighboring states.

Squires AH and Moerner WE. (2017) PNAS. DOI: 10.1073/pnas.1705435114 Supported by DOE-Off of Science-BES