Stanford University

Stanford Technology Ventures Program
http://stvp.stanford.edu

Tom Byers & Tina Seelig
STVP Mission

STVP is dedicated to accelerating high-technology entrepreneurship education and creating scholarly research on technology-based firms.

We believe that engineers and scientists need entrepreneurial skills to be successful at all levels within organisations. Our courses prepare students for leadership positions in industry, universities, and society.

We also disseminate our research and teaching knowledge through conferences, extensive web sites, and published research.
STVP Statistics:

Key Audience:
• 5,000 Science & Engineering Students at Stanford
• Entrepreneurship educators around the world

Number of Faculty
• 5 Regular Faculty
• 8 Adjunct Faculty
• 5 Staff Members

Number of Courses Offered
• 25 quarters of instruction per year
Mayfield Fellows Program
http://mfp.stanford.edu

• Nine-month work/study program for 12 students
• Intensive exposure to high-tech entrepreneurship
• Each student has three formal mentors
• Students host open houses at summer employer
• Students present case studies based on work experiences
• Continued alumni involvement as mentors
STVP Educators Corner
http://edcorner.stanford.edu

- Web-based, searchable archive of resources for entrepreneurship educators
- Curriculum, case studies, video clips, reading lists, slide presentations, etc.
- Resources on How to Build a Center
- Resources on Designing a New Course
- Resources on conferences, journals, newsletters, awards, and fund-raising Stanford Entrepreneurship Network
http://sen.stanford.edu

- Federation of the directors of all entrepreneurship-related organisations across campus
- Forum for collaboration and sharing resources
- Web site portal for all participating groups
- Hosts quarterly events for the Stanford community
- Serves students, faculty, staff, and alumni