Praise to the Living God

The Living God, the God of love and light, Whose word brought forth the myriad suns and set the worlds in flight;

The Living God, from whom all things derive, Whose first faint seeds of life;

The Living God, who knows our joy and pain, Who
the sacred and profane.

The Living God, a round, with in, above, Be whom we know as love.

Whose infinite design, which we but dimly see, Per
Who caused them to evolve, unwilling toward God's goal.

God toils where'er we toil, in home and mart and mill; And
In these tumultuous days, so full of hope and strife, May

Vades all nature, mankind stood on the earth, as Every human soul; the human heart God leads us for ward still.

In the bear witness to the Way, O Source and Goal of life.

Come, Let Us Join with Faithful Souls

William G. Tarrant, 1892, alt.

Rev. 5:11-14

Come, let us join with faithful souls our song of faith to raise;
Faith-ful are all who love the truth and perfect truth proclaim,
And faithful are the gentle hearts to whom the power is given
O God of hosts, our faith re-new, and grant us, in your grace,

One family in heart are we, and one the God we praise.
Who steadfast stand at God's right hand and glorify God's name.
Of every heart to make a home, of every home a heaven.
To join the songs sung by the saints in every time and place.

A leader of the Unitarian Church in England, William Tarrant edited a Unitarian weekly and for thirty-seven years ministered to the Unitarian Christian Church in London. This hymn was one of many he wrote for use by that congregation.

Now Thank We All Our God

1. Now thank we all our God with hearts and hands and voices, who wondrous things hath done, in near us, with ever joyful hearts and whom this world rejoices, who from our parents' blessed peace to cheer us, the one eternal arms has blessed us on our way with God, whom earth and heaven adore, for countless gifts of love, and still is ours today.
   thus it was, is now, and shall be ever more.
