Summary: To examine the causes of marital instability throughout the life course, six waves of data were collected between 1980 and 2000 from married individuals who were between the ages of 18 and 55 in 1980. Information collected in 1980 (Wave I) focused on the effects of wives’ participation in the labor force on marriage and marital instability. Measures predicting marital instability and divorce and assessing marital quality were developed. Variables include information on earnings, commitment to work, hours worked, and occupational status. The focus of Wave II, conducted in 1983, was to link changes in factors such as economic resources, wife's employment, presence of children, marital satisfaction, life goals, and health to actions intended to dissolve a marriage, such as divorce and permanent separation. Information on adjustment to marital dissolution, relationship with in-laws, size of home, parents' employment, use of free time, club membership, child-care arrangements, and responsibility for chores was gathered. Wave III, collected in 1988, further examined the impact of changes in employment, economics, and health on marital relationships. Questions were asked about divorce and remarriage, investment of energy and resource use in the care of aging parents and dependent offspring, asset value, awareness of aging, mental health issues, and history of disease. In 1992, Wave IV data were collected to look at changes in employment, economics, and health. Questions were asked about retirement issues, family structure, and the impact of caring for aging parents while at the same time caring for dependent offspring. Data were also collected in 1992 and 1994 from adult offspring who were living in the household in 1980 and had reached age 19 by 1992, thus providing parallel measures with their parents regarding the quality of parent-child relationships, attitudes, and support along with exploring the impact of childhood experiences on the transition to adult life. In 1997, the fifth wave was collected and interviews were conducted with a second sample of adult offspring (N=202) along with second interviews of offspring selected in 1992 (N=606). Wave V also examined the relationship between marital quality and stability and how it relates to changes in marital quality later in life. In 2000, Wave VI data were collected. Included with the adult panel was a panel obtained from the offspring who participated in 1992 or 1997, a replicate of the original cross-section study completed in 1980 (comprised of currently married persons between the ages of 19 and 55), along with a comparison sample made up of persons who were married in 1980 and were between 39 and 75 years old. The investigators examined whether there were changes in marital quality between 1980 and 2000, identified factors that might have accounted for these changes, and sought to determine their impact on the health and longevity of older persons. New questions included in Wave VI covered whether the respondent thought he/she had an organized lifestyle, alcohol and tobacco use, health problems, physical limitations, and mattering (the level of concern expressed for and received from spouse). Among the variables included in all six waves are age, sex, educational attainment, marital status and history, attitude toward divorce, number of children, religious affiliation, and income level.

Universe: All intact marriages in the continental United States with partners between the ages of 18 and 55 in 1980 and living in households with telephones.

Sample: National probability sample. The sample was selected using a random-digit dialing cluster technique. Data were weighted to adjust for underrepresentation in metropolitan areas.

Data Collection Notes: (1) Because of additional cleaning of the data performed by the principal investigator, this data collection supersedes earlier versions (ICPSR 9199, ICPSR 9200, ICPSR 9747, and ICPSR 2163). (2) In processing this collection, ICPSR did not change missing data codes defined by the principal investigators, at their request, and SAS and SPSS system missing data values were assigned numeric codes for each variable. Also, an unmarried case in Wave I was deleted at the principal investigators’ request. (3) The codebooks are provided by the principal investigator as Portable Document Format (PDF) files. The PDF file format was developed by Adobe Systems Incorporated and can be accessed using PDF under software, such as the Adobe Acrobat Reader. Information on how to obtain a copy of the Acrobat Reader is provided on the ICPSR Web site.

INTRODUCTION

Data Collection Description

Marital Instability Over the Life Course [United States]: A Three-Wave Panel Study, 1980-1988, describes data of individuals 55 years of age and under who were married in 1980. The focus is to identify the causes of marital instability throughout the life course. Initially, the investigators gave considerable attention to female labor force participation as it relates to marital dissolution and divorce proneness. For the last two waves, the investigators have drawn heavily on a life course perspective to guide their investigation. The study has been funded, in part, by Grant Number 1 RO1 AG04146 from the National Institute on Aging.

Because the goal of the study was to investigate the role of a wide variety of factors that may affect divorce, questions and scales cover numerous topics. Table 1 in Appendix 1 summarizes these topics from interview questions and the waves in which they appear. Table 2, also in Appendix 1, depicts the fluctuation in measures over the course of the study. This characteristic makes the data ideal for studies of stability and change. With respect to life course, Table 3 in Appendix 1 shows the number of cases in the young, middle, and late middle-age categories.

Appendix 2 shows procedures used by the investigators to construct the scales and special variables. Appendix 3 is a partial list of publications using the data.
Data Collection Procedures

Participants were first interviewed by telephone in the fall of 1980. Spouses were not interviewed. The sample was reinterviewed in the fall of 1983 and again in the spring of 1988.

A. Sample Design

The population sampled was all husbands and wives in households in the contiguous United States in which both spouses were present and under the age of 55 and who had access to a telephone. Random digit dialing was used to select the sample. A clustering technique proposed by Groves and Kahn (1979) was used to reduce selection costs. It was estimated that the respondents were sufficiently dispersed geographically so as not to create a design effect requiring attention in the analysis of the data. An additional random procedure was used to select a couple if more than one lived in the household and to select the husband or wife. The procedure yielded 2,034 interviews. In 1983 it was discovered that one of the respondents had not been married in 1980 so that case was eliminated from the data set, leaving 2,033 cases.

B. Response Rates

Among eligible households the response rate was 65%. Three percent were partial interviews, 15% refused, and 17% could not be reached. The response rates for the reinterviews in 1983 and 1988 are shown in Table 4 in Appendix 1. In 1983, the response rate was 78% and in 1988, 84%. The re-survey in 1983 yielded 1,578 completed interviews and reliable information on marital status of another 150 individuals. In 1988 1,341 interviews plus reliable marital information on another 94 people were obtained. Because divorce was the central focus of the investigation, interviewers were instructed to obtain information on the individual's marital status even if they could not complete the interview or reach the individual. The marital status information could then be used when predicting marital instability from previously obtained interview data. For a more complete description of the procedures used in the study and a comparison with other studies, see Booth and Johnson (1985).
C. Sample Representativeness and Weighting

Using Census data, the investigators evaluated the sample on the following background characteristics: age, race, sex, household size, presence of children, home ownership, husband's education, region, and metropolitan residence. The sample is comparable to the national distribution of married individuals, husbands under 55 on the following characteristics: husband's age, wife's age, race, household size, tenure, region, and presence of children. The sample does have the biases in sex and education expected in survey research; the sample is more likely to be female (59% versus 52% for the population), and better educated (30% with a bachelors degree versus 24% for the population). Because of the higher refusal rates in metropolitan areas only 63% of the sample, compared with 74% of the nation, comes from standard metropolitan statistical areas. This disparity occurs in all areas but the south. To increase the generalizability of the survey, the sample was weighted for metropolitan residence by region.

According to the investigators, attrition in the second and third waves influences the representativeness of the sample only slightly. Table 5 in Appendix 1 shows the 1980 characteristics of those reinterviewed in 1983 and 1988. Attrition occurred among those who were 14-24 years old, black, those with Spanish origin, males, individuals from three person households, renters, those without any college, people from the south, those with children under 6, and those living in metropolitan areas. Out of 54 comparisons between 1980 and 1988 characteristics, 6 were more than by 3 percent and 41 of the comparisons were below 2.5 percent. Probit analysis was used to test whether some demographic variables (age, sex, home ownership, education, presence of children) and five indicators of marital quality (happiness, disagreement, interaction, problems, divorce proneness) affect the probability of not being included in the second and third wave. Home ownership and educational attainment were the only statistically significant predictors of a non-interview. Renters and those with lower educational attainment are more likely to drop from the panel. The panel remains fairly representative of the target population.

File Structure

These data are available from ICPSR in two formats: card-image and logical record (LRECL). The card-image file contains 33 decks per case in a format based on 80-character records. The data are sorted in ascending order by respondent number, with all decks for a respondent placed together. The LRECL data file is constructed with a single logical record for each respondent. Both the LRECL and card-image formats contain 1575 variables for 2033 respondents.

A machine-readable codebook accompanies the data, which provides complete formatting and other information for all variables in both formats. In addition, both SPSS and SAS control cards have been prepared for this collection. Each type has cards which describe the logical record data file as well as the card-image data version. Both sets of control cards contain formatting information as well as variable and value labels for all variables in the collection.
Codebook Information

The example below is a reproduction of information appearing in the machine-readable codebook for a typical variable. The numbers in brackets do not appear but are references to the descriptions that follow this example.

[1] Indicates the variable. A variable number assigned to each variable in the data collection.

[2] Indicates the abbreviated variable name used to identify the each variable. An expanded version of the variable name can be found in the Variable Description list.

[3] Indicates the variable type. "NUM" characterizes numbers, and "ALPHA NUM" characterizes alphanumeric (containing numbers and alphabets or special characters).

[4] Indicates the starting location of this variable within each data file. In this example, the variable 1189 is located in 275th column within each record.
[5] Indicates the number of columns the variable occupies. In the above example, VAR 1189 occupies 1 column.

[6] Indicates the location by record and column(s) of this variable when the data is stored in card-image format.

[7] Indicates the code values of missing data. In this example, code values for missing data ranges from 7 thru 9. When there is no missing values, it is indicated by the statements: "MISS VAL NONE".

[8] This statement "IMP DEC " appears only if variable has implied decimal specifications, and "" indicates the number of decimal specification.

[9] This is the full text (question) supplied by the investigator to describe the variable. The question text, and the numbers and letters that may precede it, reflect the original wording of the questionnaire item.

[10] Indicates the code values of the responses for this variable as documented in the data.

The data collection was processed according to the standard ICPSR processing procedures. The data were checked for illegal or inconsistent code values which, when found, were corrected or recoded to missing data values. No consistency checks were performed.

Variable names reflect the three waves of data. V1000 through V1535 are data collected in 1980. V2000 through V2492 are 1983 variables; and V3000 through V3541 are 1988 variables.

Users should contact the principal investigators with questions concerning open-ended data. These data are not included in this dataset. See Appendix 6 for open-ended responses.

If his wife works full-time, a husband should share equally in household chores such as cooking, cleaning, and washing.

A working mother can establish just as good a relationship with her children as a mother who does not work.

If jobs are scarce, a woman whose husband can support her ought not to have a job.
Even though a wife works outside the home, the husband should be the main breadwinner and the wife should have the responsibility for the home and children.

DESCRIPTION OF CREATED SCALES AND SPECIAL VARIABLES

Wife's Job Commitment (v1525)

A summated scale using four items:

- v1141  Wife works because she wants a career
- v1142  Wife works for a feeling of accomplishment
- v1146  Wife works because she wants financial independence
- v1247  Wife's work preference: full-time, part-time, none

Chronbach's alpha is .63 for this four-item scale. Because there were 30-50 don't knows, especially for v1247, all DK responses were recoded to the mid-points on the scale -- 2.5 for v1141, v1142, and v1146 and 2 for v1247.

The scale ranges from 4 to 15. The mean value is 10.32 and the standard deviation is 2.70.

The scale is valid only for working wives.

Wife's Work Potential (v1529)

- v1135  Wife paid employee before marriage
- v1136  Wife worked after marriage
- v1137  Proportion married life wife worked
- v1207  Last year wife worked
- v1237  Wife has training or job experience

Recoded as follows:

- v1135  Yes=1  Else=0
- v1136  Yes=1  Else=0
- v1137  Always, Most of the time=1  Else=0
These six items are scalable. Chronbach's alpha = .68

Construction: To take into consideration the possibility that poor health might reduce work potential, these six variables were added and then multiplied by .5 if the wife had a health problem. A health problem was defined if the wife's health was fair or poor or if she had a physical limitation. If she was pregnant, it was assumed she was healthy. Of the 836 non-working women for whom this scale is defined, 143 (17.1%) had a health problem.

The scale has a range from 0 to 7. The mean is 3.4 and the standard deviation is 2.0.

Marital Instability

These indices of marital instability are based on items asked of people who are married. The initial development of the scale is described in detail in the following publications:

The scale was revised slightly in 1984 and it is that revision that is available for all three years. Higher scores indicate greater marital instability. The variable was logged to bring the distributional quality more into line with the assumptions needed for multiple regression.
Marital Happiness

A summated scale using eleven items reflecting amount of happiness with: 1) extent of understanding received from spouse; 2) amount of love received; 3) extent of agreement about things; 4) sexual relationship; 5) spouse as someone who takes care of things around the house; 6) spouse as someone to do things with; 7) spouse's faithfulness; 8) evaluation of marriage as very happy, pretty happy, or not too happy; 9) compared to other marriages, respondent's is better, same, or not as good; 10) comparing marriage to 3 years ago, it is getting better, staying the same, or getting worse; and 11) strength of feelings of love respondent has for spouse. Scale has possible scores from 11 to 34. Items (except v1420, v2349, v3473) were reverse coded so that high score means greater happiness. v1420, v2349, v3473 were also recoded so the range of scores was from...
1 to 3 to be consistent with the other items.

Marital Problems

A summated scale using 13 items indicating presence of marital problems because either or both spouses: 1) gets angry easily; 2) gets easily hurt; 3) is jealous; 4) is domineering; 5) is critical; 6) is moody; 7) won't talk to the other; 8) has sexual relationship with others; 9) has irritating habit; 10) is not home enough; 11) spends money foolishly; 12) drinks or uses drugs; and 13) has been in trouble with the law.

Higher scores indicate greater marital problems.

Marital Interaction

A summated scale using five items: 1) eat main meal together; 2) go shopping together; 3) visit friends together; 4) work around home together; and 5) go out together.

Scale has possible values from 5 to 20. Higher scores indicate greater interaction.

Marital Disagreement

A summated scale using the following items: 1) disagreements over share of housework done by respondent; 2) frequency of disagreements with spouse; 3) number of serious quarrels with spouse within last two months; and 4) arguments involving physical abuse. Scale values range from 0 to 12. Higher scores indicate greater disagreement.

Because of outliers VAR101, V63, T402 were recoded: 2 - 96 = 1. Variables VAR83, V48, T395 and VAR102, V64, T403 were reverse coded to be consistent with the other two items. The variables were z-scored (using the same means and standard deviation as in 1980) and added together.

Total Family Income

A combination of three items was used to construct this variable: 1) total family income over or under $20,000; 2) income category over $20,000; and 3) income category under $20,000. The few individuals who said their income was less than $20,000, but who wouldn't specify further, were assigned $12,500; the individuals indicating incomes of $20,000 or above who did not specify further were assigned $27,500. The midpoint of each interval listed in the questions was used to assign dollar value. For the last interval, $65,000 was used.

Sex Roles

A summated scale using seven items: 1) wife's most important task: caring for children; 2) husband should earn higher pay than wife; 3) husband shouldn't worry if wife went overnight in connection with job; 4) if wife works full-time, husband should help with housework; 5) if jobs scarce, wife shouldn't work; 6) working mothers can have just as good of a relationship with kids; and 7) even if wife works, husband should be main breadwinner. Response categories were: 1) strongly agree; 2) agree; 3) disagree; and 4) strongly disagree.
Higher scores indicate more traditional values.

SUMMARY TABLE
First, I would like to know who lives there and a little about each person.

LIST R., SPOUSE, CHILDREN OLDEST TO YOUNGEST, OTHER RELATIVES, NON-RELATIVES. IN YOUR OWN WORDS, FILL IN THE FOLLOWING TABLE. ALTERING WORDS TO FIT THE CIRCUMSTANCES FIND:

V1009 THRU V1054

1. How is this person related to the respondent?
2. Is this a male or female?
3. How old was this person on his/her last birthday?
4. Is this person married, never married, divorced, widowed, or separated?
5. How many years of schooling has this person completed?

Have I missed anyone who usually stays there but is temporarily away? THIS MEANS PEOPLE WHO NORMALLY LIVE THERE BUT ARE GONE FOR A SHORT PERIOD OF TIME; NOT, FOR EXAMPLE, COLLEGE STUDENTS OR OTHERS WITH ANOTHER ADDRESS WHO ARE AWAY MOST OF THE TIME.

148. We've talked about many different aspects of family life and the way a wife who works outside the home can affect marriage. Is there anything else you can tell me that would help us to understand what may happen in a marriage when the wife works.  (RECORD EXACT RESPONSE.)
149. This interview is part of a long-range study of the relationships between people's work and their marriages. I want to emphasize that your answers are completely confidential and your name will not be used, nor will any information be released that will permit people to identify you. We would like to interview you again in three years to see what kinds of changes have been taking place. In order to be able to locate you again in three years, however, we would like to have your full name.

THANK YOU VERY MUCH FOR YOUR COOPERATION]]

This interview is part of a long-range study of the relationships between people's work and their marriages. I want to emphasize that your answers are completely confidential and your name will not be used, nor will any information be released that will permit people to identify you. We would like to interview you again in three years to see what kinds of changes have been taking place. In order to be able to locate you again, we would like to up-date our information on you. CONFIRM INFORMATION OR REQUEST.

City or Town  State  Zip

Sometimes people move even though they are not really planning to right now. Would you please give me the name and address of someone who would know where you lived if you happened to move in the next three years -- for example, a relative? I want you to understand that this person's name will not be used in any way except to help us locate you if you have moved at the end of three years. I want to assure you that this person will not be interviewed nor will they be told about the nature of the study you're involved in. (PREFER BLOOD RELATIVE OF R. DO NOT TAKE BUSINESSES. NEIGHBORS AS A LAST RESORT.)

043 Couple needs to work everything out beforehand - housework finances - all the ramifications
044 One parent must be home to nurture the children
045 Children are ones most affected when wife works
046 Okay if husband is agreeable (mutual agreement); if not, problems
047 Man looks upon wife's education as investment - wants a return
048 Girls nowadays should be trained for some work
049 Couple aren't going to have children so wife has plenty of free time even though she works
050 Family that has faith in God can be happy
051 There is great lack of adequate child care (hard to find someone)
052 Now there is more flexibility for women to do what they want
053 It's okay/good for wife to work if just husband and wife at home
054 A wife who is really happy doesn't go to work
055 Women should do volunteer work, especially in schools
056 Couple/family get less time together if wife works
057 Couple shouldn't bring home problems
058 Women who work seem to be divorced or single 059 Women shouldn't take a man's job
060 Costs too much for clothes, car, child care, if wife works
061 Doesn't want wife gone overnight
062 Woman has hard time adjusting to being a housewife after working in her profession - misses career
063 The Lord/Bible wants women to be helpers/mothers
064 Causes changes in roles and priorities of wife and husband
065 It is not the quantity of time the mother spends with kids, it's the quality
066 Problems arise cause people are inflexible
067 Wife only working to help husband
068 Respondent had good experience growing up with both parents working
069 Wife works for security in case of husband's death
070 Wife who works has no time for activities outside home (school volunteer)
071 Meeting other men/women
072 Depends on kind of job/hours, i.e. stripper or nurse
073 Makes for misunderstanding/poor communications
074 Okay as long as both work same hours
075 Gives woman a chance to get out of a bad marriage
076 Enhances marriage - better communication - sharing closeness
077 Children want their mother home - doing more for them
078 Wife might not be home when needed (late dinner)
079 Hard to plan weekend trips and vacations
080 Two people are working for common goal
081 Okay to work but put family first before job                  12
082 Woman shouldn't work unless absolutely necessary            14
083 Woman can work if kids are small; not when 12+               1
084 "Bad role model" for boys if woman stays home - they think women shouldn't work                                         1 085 Its hard to start work after you've been home entire married life                                                        1
086 Spouse starts spending money unwisely                       1
087 More responsibility placed on the man                       4
088 Okay if mom is home when kids are home                      2
089 U.S. economy causes most family/marital problems            2
090 Women are discriminated against in business world          1
091 Man resents/refuses to do domestic chores                   4
092 If woman works - go right after baby is born rather than
   3 years (it feels rejection)                                 1
093 Problems because "head of household" idea is disappearing   3
094 Need more hours in the day/hecetic                         5
095 Family was helped by Family Service Counseling              1
096 We eat out more often                                       1
097 Big difference between "have to" - "want to" work           2
098 Don't worry about money problems                           1
099 Working helps wife keep her sanity                          1
100 More divorces when wife makes more money                    2
101 Husband/wife works different shifts - stressful             3
102 Goals should be defined adequately/goals/be aware of roles  1
103 If wife doesn't like job, can cause problems                1
104 I do my duty, what's expected for my family                 1
105 Woman who works misses out on a lot of family things        1
106 If people want to stay married don't live in Dallas, Texas  1
107 This is my own opinion                                       1
108 Misunderstandings of husbands ego                           1
109 Good and bad effects (wouldn't clarify)                     1
110 Its a way of life for young couples                         1
111 Wife felt guilty about leaving baby to go to work;
   husband felt she thought more of baby than him               1 112 Wife worked some/stayed home some - no problem - worked out okay                                                     1
113 It all depends on whether wife is happy with job            5
114 Each should maintain individuality and be able to give to the other                                                 1
115 Bad enough one person coming home irritable, not two people
116 Man should be boss/breadwinner                              1
117 Couple relies too much on wife's income                     1
118 Lack of cooperation from family                            2
119 If its week ends and nights, its difficult for family       1
120 Couples would have to "make time for each other"            1
121 Women have more to contribute than just staying home        1
122 Husband makes more money for household                      1
123 Wife expects too much from man/gets bossy                   1
124 Exposure to people and things good                          1
125 Children tend not to be as close to the parents/mother
