I just spoke to Chris O'Meara (CRO) at Lehman--they have had to post additional collateral to a variety of ctpys to avoid being out off yesterday and today--he did not know at this moment where the liquidity stood relative to the $36 bio they quoted on the earnings call--I asked if he could find out and call me back but he said he was going to be out of pocket most of the night. He said they needed to get through the day tomorrow and would hopefully "work something out" over the weekend. I asked Donna to speak to her contact ( the Treasurer) after our 6:30 call to get the liquidity info and get a sense of what they need to get through the day tomorrow. John
